

CRF Management System

The campus has engaged in a consultative process across Schools to implement a Curriculum Management System, which will support faculty and staff by streamlining the submission and approvals of all undergraduate and graduate courses as a basis for the campus catalog.

Key Dates:

December 15, 2017 - The CRF system will be closed for accepting new submissions on December 15, 2017. Faculty will need to have course proposals for effective term Fall 2018 in by December 15, 2017. Those submitted materials will be reviewed and processed in the old system through March 2018. In this transition, deadlines for materials will be crucial. All course proposals, graduate and undergraduate, should be submitted in advance of this black-out period to ensure School and relevant Council review.

March 2018 - The new system is scheduled to go live for all undergraduate and graduate course proposals for Spring 2019 effective term onward.
